A nursing career is within your reach

Are you interested in becoming a nurse, but aren't sure how to make it happen because of work schedules, family commitments or because you've been out of school for a while? Becoming a nurse requires time and dedication, but you can do it.

CAMC's Nurse Education Assistance Program, in collaboration with Kanawha County Community and Technical College, will help cover your educational costs in exchange for a work commitment to the hospital. You'll finish the program ready to start your career in the exciting, rewarding health care field.

This timeline illustrates the application and training process for the program.
